How should students access information for your class?

All students have been given school logins. They have practiced joining live from google classroom with me.

Which tab will it be posted under?

Students have been using stream to review instructions for the day with me in preparation of ever having to pivot.

Will information be sent through Class Dojo, Remind or is everything posted in Google Classroom or Teams?

I will continue to use google classroom stream for instruction details. Assignments will be listed with explanations. I use Remind for parent updates and other communications.

Where should assignments be turned in?

SAVVAS assignments are designed with turn in button when student completes assignment.

Should they send an email?

Students use email already for questions and request to retake a commonlit assignment.

Post a picture in the chat? Have not used

Put it in their ClassNotebook? Have not used

Attach it to the assignment? Have not use

Is there any other information student should know about your class?

Joining Live is essential for attendance and instruction

Will they be expected to do work in:

No Red Ink- students have log ins and we have been using no red ink since August

Google Classwork – students have been assigned assignments on classwork throughout the 1st semester

SAVVAS – We began using SAVVAS last week in the classroom

Commonlit.com – We have using commonlit since August.

What are your classroom expectations for remote students?

Students will join live for attendance and instruction

Do they have to have their microphone on the entire time?

Students have been instructed to be counted present I need to see and hear them.

Do they have to have their camera on?

Students have been instructed that cameras must be on for instruction.

Must they respond when called on?

Students have been instructed to participate with verbal communication with live.

Must they either make a comment or raise their hand at least once every 10 minutes?

They have been instructed to be kind and patient with joining live using classroom expectations. They may use chat and/or raise hand depending on the activity of the lesson.

When your class has a break do they have to turn their cameras on so you can make sure they are actually in the room?

Yes, cameras have remained on throughout lesson entirety.
